

Storm Safety

Here in Wyandotte, Michigan, we are blessed to experience the pleasures of all four seasons, as well as, their tantrums. Over the course of a year, we see episodes of pouring rain, lightning, wind storms, sleet, snow and ice. We know extreme weather can be tough on humans, but it's also tough on trees. In fact, downed trees and broken limbs are the number one cause of WMS power outages year-round. WMS has a tree trimming program that enhances service reliability.

Always use our Customer Assistance/Emergency line, 734.324.7190, to report a power outage. Please leave vital information, address of outage, exact nature of problem, time of outage and any other pertinent information that can be provided. This information will help operators respond more quickly and efficiently to outages on our electric system. If live electric lines are noticed, please also call 911 and report the situation.

So, as you can see, long before a storm ever hits, WMS has been busy preparing for it. However, no matter what the cause of an outage, our first priority, even before restoration of power, is the safety of our customers and employees.
